

The Berlingot

Nantes, France

Does spending your day in a candy-inspired building sound like a pretty sweet deal? For those working in Nantes' Le Berlingot, it's just another day at the office. Taking its name from a local confectionery, the office building's layered design mimics the striped hard candies that the city is famous for. Part of the city's urban renewal strategy, the 15,000 m<sup>2</sup> stainless steel and glass building is located in the heart of the Euronantes business district. Adjacent to the main train station, the Berlingot gives arrivals a striking first impression of the new Nantes.

Environment:	urban
Use:	panel façade
Material:	304 with a Uginox TOP, Bright, MAT and brushed surface finishes
Manufacturer:	Aperam
Architects:	dl-a designlab architecture SA
Photographs:	Patrik André
More information:	aperam.com

Picture courtesy of Patrik André