Yoon

Frank Sukjun Yoon is a research fellow as of November 2020, responsible for the Market Development Committee at the ISSF based in Belgium. During the past one year of his fellowship, he has ventured in various industries from electric bus frames, a hydrogen economy to cups & bowls, that hold potential for stainless steel implementation and introduced penetration methods.

Before joining the ISSF, he was a sales manager at POSCO responsible for sales to domestic service centers for a total of 7 years. Along with his commercial experience in South Korea, he was also a sales manager at POSCO's Turkish plant, POSCO ASSAN TST for a 5-year term during which he oversaw stainless steel sales operations to end-users both domestic and international.
